

THE ODD FELLOWS.

INTERESTING MEMORIAL SERVICES YESTERDAY.

Address by Hon. W. O. Smith—The Memory of W. E. Herrick Kept Green.

Harmony Hall was comfortably filled with Odd Fellows and their friends yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the annual memorial services, which were held under the direction of Charles J. Fishel, D. D. G. S.

The services commenced with the singing of the memorial ode, in which all present joined. After a piano solo by Miss Carrie Castle and the singing of "Not a Sparrow Faleth," Mr. Fishel delivered the following eulogy of W. E. Herrick, P. G., the only member of the two Honolulu lodges deceased during the past year:

"Another year in the history of Odd Fellowship brings to us tidings that fill our hearts with pride and make us all rejoice as we contemplate the growth of our beloved order, and realize that the great stream of benevolence and charity that flows from the fountains of friendship, love and truth is fast becoming longer, deeper and wider. But in the midst of these pleasant thoughts and beneficent works comes the irrepressible messenger of death, followed by the cries of mourning and lamentations, the sound of the slow tolling bell, the moving of the solemn, sad procession as it marches to the last resting place of the remains of a dear brother, and we look for the last time upon that manly form now sleeping in death, and whose cheerful and comforting words had so often cast their rays of bright and cheering sunshine along the pathway of many lives, and whose deeds of benevolence and charity had contributed so much to lighten the burdens of sorrow and remove the soreness of grief.

"The great reaper has taken from our ranks our beloved brother W. E. Herrick, P. G., Harmony Lodge No. 3, I. O. O. F.

"Brother Herrick arrived here on a whaling ship in 1858, and being a good mechanic, his trade being woodturner, soon found employment as such at Mr. C. E. Williams' furniture store, with whom he worked over twenty years. Mr. Williams told me that he never lost a day for want of work; he was always very prompt, active and willing, and took great interest in his employer's shop. He also made himself very useful in the undertaking business.

"After serving Mr. Williams faithfully for over twenty years, he started a turning shop of his own on Fort street, where J. J. McDonald's blacksmith shop now stands. After occupying that place for about a year he moved his shop to Bethel street, opposite where the old Bethel church used to stand. He kept the Bethel street place to about a year ago, when he moved to Fort street again, taking the shop formerly occupied by Lane Bros' marble works. He was very skillful in his craft and did a large business once in turning and repairing calabashes and other Hawaiian articles. Brother Herrick, P. G., was one of the first members of the Hook and Ladder Company, over thirty years ago, and held the position of treasurer for about twenty-seven years. One year ago he was made an honorary member of the Company.

"Brother Herrick, P. G., was an active member of Harmony Lodge No. 3, I. O. O. F., also an old member of the American Relief Fund; member of the old Bethel church, in whose choir he used to take the part of tenor. Years ago he was a leader of the old instrumental band; he was also a very strong Union man in the Rebellion.

"Brother Herrick, P. G., was born on February 3, 1834, in Lima, Livingstone, New York. He married Miss W. E. Hathaway, of Springfield, Ill., on January 4, 1868, and died February 25, 1893, leaving a widow and eight children to mourn his loss. Mr. Williams who knew Brother Herrick, P. G., better than any one else spoke in the highest terms of him and said it gave him much pleasure to be able to speak so well of him.

"As his associates and co-workers we deeply feel his loss, but to his family, brothers, neighbors and friends, in their homes, where the influence of his life was more deeply felt and where his work shines with the richest lustre comes this loss with the saddest and most lasting regrets. A kind providence mercifully lengthened out his days of usefulness beyond the average of life and no words of eulogy spoken by me or shafts of marble erected by dear and loving friends can add to the manly worth of the life he lived, or cause to shine with brighter lustre the deeds of love or work of benevolence he performed. These will live on loved and cherished by generous and grateful hearts that have been touched and tendered by the gentle influence of his sympathy and charity.

"Brother Herrick, P. G., was an honest, upright and industrious citizen, and in all the fraternal positions he held, he was ever devoted to their demands, and commanded the respect and esteem of all his associates. In his death Odd Fellowship has lost one of its most earnest and zealous workers, and his intelligent counsels will be sadly missed. When the intelligence of his demise was announced, all felt that a strong pillar of our glorious edifice had fallen, and the shadow of a great grief settled upon the hearts of the whole brotherhood of this jurisdiction at the thought that his courtly presence, his genial smile, his wise instruction, his kind encouragement, should be seen or heard by them no

M. McINERNY.

Are we to be, or not to be, a part of the Great Republic, seems to be the burning question of the day, and one we had rather leave to wiser heads than ours to solve; and while great statesmen are wrestling with this momentous question, we want to have a little "pow-wow" with you on some other subjects, that concern you as well as ourselves.

Has it not occurred to you that you've been wearing that old hat long enough! In these progressive times if you intend to be "in it," you've got to keep pace with fashion. No matter how otherwise well dressed you may be, unless your hat is the correct thing you bear a shabby appearance.

We have already laid in a stock of the Latest Hats of the coming Spring and Summer styles, in hard felts, soft felts and straws, and including a line of the celebrated "Fedora" Hats, at present all the rage in the United States. There is therefore, no necessity for you to hang on any longer to that old Tile that bears such a strong resemblance to the hat "your father wore."

Believing that business will be better in the near future, we have not hesitated to keep our stock full in all lines. Take collars for instance: We have almost everything you could wish for. If you wear a standing collar, just come in and take a look at our "Narenta" or "Ardonia;" or if you prefer a turn down collar, try the "Winnipeg" or "Goswell;" we have have lots of others, and can't fail to suit you. Cuffs in abundance, links or otherwise.

Neckwear in profusion, scarfs, windsors, 4-in-hands, and a special lot of "Boys' Bows;" suspenders in great variety, leather and woven ends, good strong, serviceable goods.

We might go on indefinitely, but space is valuable, and to enumerate everything we carry would fill a pretty fair sized book. If there is anything you want in the men's line, just drop in and see us, and if we can't suit you, we don't believe any one can.

If you should want a pair of nice shoes, let us try a hand at fitting you. Did it ever occur to you

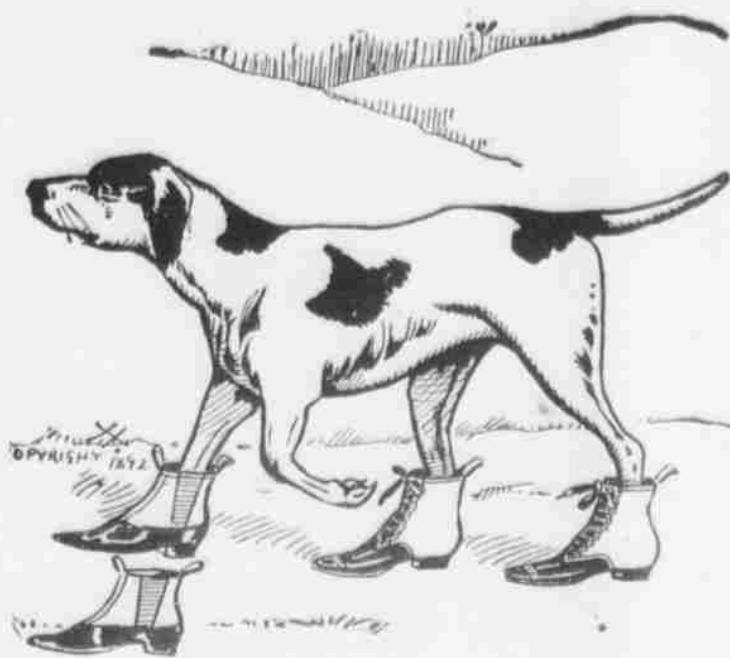

How much a man is like his shoes; For instance, both a soul may lose. Both have been tanned; Both are made tight by Cobblers; Both get left and right; Both need a mate to be complete; And both are made to go on feet.

They both need healing; oft are sold, And both in time will turn to mould. With shoes the last is first; with men The first shall be the last; and when The shoes wear out, they're mended new; When men wear out, they're men dead too.

They both are trod upon, and both Will tread on others' nothing loth. Both have their ties, and both incline When polished, in the world to shine; And both get out. Now would you choose To be a man, or be his shoes.

POINTERS IN SHOES

Just three pointers will be enough for you:
1st—We have over 20,000 pairs of Shoes in stock to select from, embracing all leading lines.
2nd—We buy in larger quantities than any one in the country, only spot cash, consequently we buy cheaper.
3rd—We have no extraordinary inducements to offer; you would distrust a man who had gold dollars to sell for ninety cents. Look out for the shoe man with that kind of a story; his shoes may be Counterfeits.
